CVJA readership increased by 33% - Pubmed statistics

The most recent report on the link-out facility to full text articles published in the CVJA shows a 30% increase in Readership in January this year.

The trend of readership increase has been seen since the title change from CVJ of SA to CVJA, Prof Andries Brink commented.

20% of the articles we publish are from South Africa and are of a high quality. The new title gives South African authors a wider audience, which should be of benefit to their academic standing.

Best wishes,
